Happy September! School is in full swing and the students and children are all having a wonderful time.

LET the LITTLE CHILDREN COME TO ME MATTHEW 19:14

The children are learning so much already. We are all looking forward to the fall of the year so that we can get outside to run and play. Thanks for allowing us to be a part of your child's preschool years.

Leaving School For the Day: Parents for the safety of your children and the safety of others we are asking that all parents and children exit the building using the doors near the office. Also, please make sure your child is signed out for the day before leaving the campus. Please do not use the doors by the fellowship hall. Parents please do not allow your children to run in the halls. It can be very dangerous.

ALERT! Please remember that we are a peanut free facility. Also we request that children do not bring snacks to school unless you provide enough for the entire class.

Book Bags and Back Packs: We ask that since we allow children to bring book bags and back packs to school that parents please check them to be sure that there isn't anything in them that may be harmful to the children. Anything that says "may be harmful to children" or "Keep out of the reach of children" cannot be in their bags. Beginning September 3rd, all students in the K-3 Room are being asked to please leave their bookbags at home.

Morning Drop Off: Parents please remember that all children in K3, Transition and Pre-K must be dropped off no later than 8:30 every morning.

All other children should be in school NO LATER THAN 9:30 every day.

If your child has an early morning appointment, please let the front office know.

Ah, the piano.

Piano music is the backdrop for many of my childhood memories. My mother sang and played the piano for our worship services on Sunday morning, Sunday evening and Wednesday night. She could only play by ear, but oh, how she could play! I can remember sometimes my Dad, who was the pastor of our small church, would break out into a spontaneous worship song; my mother—even though she was hearing impaired--would be able to pick out the right key in just a couple of notes, then she would join in singing harmony. I can still see the joy on her face as her hands flew over the keys.

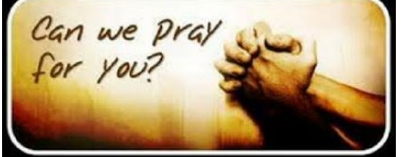

We had a piano at home; Dad would occasionally sit down after a hard day's work building houses (a job that paid the bills) and pour out his soul, worshipping with arpeggios and hallelujahs. Those piano keys seemed to absorb the tensions of the day, the worries and pressures of supporting a family of five kids, the many pressures that came with being a pastor, contractor, husband and father. We children never knew about the worries; we just heard the music.

As time went by, each of the older children had the opportunity to take piano lessons because Mom wanted us to be able to play by note. For me, those piano lessons were torture; I was shy and the teacher had little patience. (It was the one and only time I hated piano!)

I wish I had stuck with the lessons! I've got an old piano at home. I practice playing by note on it occasionally, but mostly, like my Dad, I pray with the piano. At home and here at church, there is something soothing and holy about playing out my prayers!

This Sunday, after a summer of worshipping in the chapel, we will be back in the sanctuary for our worship service. I'm looking forward to hearing Phillip play that baby grand piano as only he can...for as always, piano music moves my soul toward worship. With each note, I am glad I came into the house of the Lord.
